

Position: Educational Garden Project Intern
Available to: Currently enrolled undergraduate students
Term: Summer 2017

Position Description:

Emory's Office of Sustainability Initiatives (OSI) is currently seeking to fill an important role working with the Educational Garden Project on Emory's campus. The intern will work with Taylor Spicer, the OSI Programs Coordinator, and Sam Boring, the Educational Garden Coordinator. An intern's tasks may include but not be limited to:

- Assisting the Garden Coordinator to strengthen and support garden teams.
- Assisting with needed labor if gardens need weeding or other help.
- Building or strengthening systems of communication with garden coordinators, regular work teams and volunteers.
- Assuring there is good signage both in the gardens and at campus events.
- Updating Garden Calendar and guidance documents as needed.
- Archiving garden activities through photos and saving documents and flyers, etc.

Desired Qualifications:

- Friendly and task-oriented
- Interest in sustainability, especially sustainable & local food
- Knowledge of organic gardening practices is preferred but not required
- Experience in gardening, horticulture, or landscaping

Eligibility:

All undergraduate students enrolled at Emory University are invited to apply. All majors are welcome, but those seeking experience in a field related to sustainability are preferred.

To Apply:

Submit your resume, a cover letter and your general availability to Taylor Spicer at tspicer@emory.edu by noon on Friday, March 24.

In your resume/cover letter, please:

- Discuss any experiences that have shaped your interest in sustainability, food or horticulture
- Indicate why you are interested in working with this program
- Explain how the internship will contribute to your academic and professional development
